Article highlights:

- A new platform upgrade for Censored.News aggregates and analyzes news from 77 censored websites every 30 minutes, covering seven categories and using AI for trend analysis and projections.

- Censored.News offers AI-driven news analysis and reality-based perspectives, updating every 30 minutes.

- Censored News offers a 30-minute audio update every hour, aggregating and narrating suppressed news from 77 censored websites and select Substack pages.

New Tool Aggregates and Analyzes Suppressed Stories

Censored.news has rolled out new features to combat media bias and censorship.

This innovative tool checks over 77 censored websites every 30 minutes, aggregating breaking news stories across seven categories: Health, Finance, USA, International, Tech, Energy, and Science.

It employs advanced AI to analyze trends, answer user queries, and predict implications of emerging trends.

The platform also generates audio reports every 30 minutes, narrating the latest news trends, and blocks dishonest corporate media sites.

Censored.News presents a pro-liberty, pro-health freedom, pro-decentralization stance, providing a much-needed alternative to mainstream narratives.

AI-Driven Analysis and Predictions

Censored News' standout feature is its AI prompt window, which allows users to ask questions about news stories from the past 24 hours. The platform's groundbreaking Brighteon AI engine then provides intelligent, context-driven responses.

Additionally, the "analyze implications" feature delves into the short-term, medium-term, and long-term societal, technological, and financial impacts of emerging trends. This feature can be invoked with just one click. No user prompt required.

Accessible and User-Friendly

Censored News generates an audio report every 30 minutes, narrating the most recent news trends and highlights. These audio reports are playable online and downloadable as MP3 files, making it convenient for users to stay informed on-the-go.

The platform also lists the most recent news stories from each of the sites, with clickable headlines, allowing users to dive deeper into topics that interest them.
